

FINAL REFLECTION ASSIGNMENT

As soon as you can after the performance, write down three to four moments that made you laugh, cry, blew your mind, or made you say “Huh. I never thought of it that way before.” Think about your own journey with some aspect of your identity.

- How would you render that story to provide a moment of transformation for yourself? Or your audience?
- How did you feel about engaging with the selected viewing and reading materials.
- Describe some key takeaways from the reading you did in relationship to the performance and any other programs you participated in.
- What did you learn about your own identities during this experience?
- How do the performing arts help us build connections with those we share communities?
